Great, thanks. We are committed to meet in person, at least until we get past the initial phases, then whatever format makes sense.

Working on SOW comments with plan to get to you on Friday.

As a side note, when we left after our Monday meeting the weather didn't cooperate and we were stuck at La Guardia until Midnight and didn't get to Dallas until 4am, then not to Houston until 9:30am. I guess my point is maybe I should rethink the visit in person!

We will see you then.

Mike

Yes, August 5 (Fri) at 10:30am eastern would work for us. I assume you mean a conference call.

Good morning Alice,

I am on a plane currently and won't be back in the office until after lunch. We are working on SOW and I will get back to you on that as soon as Juan and I meet early afternoon. From a schedule standpoint, would August 5th around 10:30am work for you guys?

I thought our meeting was excellent as well and look forward to a collaborative process and working relationship with the team.

It was nice to meet you and Juan on Monday. I thought it was a very productive meeting. I believe you mentioned that we might have a follow-up meeting during the first week in August. I just wanted to see if you had any dates in mind, and whether you were still thinking that you might get us comments on the SOW sometime this week.
